UFO Dream info (number 2)

The close-up-viewed shape of a flying UFO is not round at all. This silver-metallic coloured example was more an irregular oval, with a narrow flexible area of its edge or rim (a shiny "lip"), where a chosen part could be turned up or down to the desired angle relative to the UFO's top-side or bottom-side and the direction of its movement. This made navigation in flight easier.

From the craft's roundish center, a curved empty red funnel reached through to the outside environment, and was presumably used for power escape/intake or energy conversion.
