pedagogical pulses system

(Dreamt the general system, then the more precise version.)

An open metallic stand with 6 flat racks. In the air between each rack were 5 contoured and separated yellow pulses of energy beside each other, each representing a teaching/learning facet of what I don't yet know about UFOs. I could choose any of the 5 in the top layer, and when I'd digested the information in that bit, the next logically compatible pulse from the next lower layer would be chosen for me and its contents unfolded. If and when I had understood an element from each rack, the first series of lessons was done.

After a pause, I'd be offered a separated metallic stand under that, with its 6-7 racks and 5-6 energy pulses between each. When I had gone through the chosen elements in both these stands, the first connected section of lessons would be completed.

I couldn't see farther down, to see if other metallic stands were underneath this, but assume that's so.

(Personal remarks: I was sick when I had these two short dreams, and had too low energy for UFO work. Nevertheless, they appeared to drop down at an angle from the outside and enter me.

This tells me, that the teachers don't realize or are not considering my biological limitations - which is not so weird, if they don't share our hormonal and spinal cord systems. This fits well with the 5 or so periods in my UFO-sightings and documentation, when I refused to investigate obvious phenomena, dismissed them as "just helicopters", would not wear my glasses for a year, short-circuited my higher energy-system, etc. - this was because the fairly elastic bounds of my mind were being stretched so far, that I had to pull back, often for years. So it's up to me to not drive myself so hard in this area, that I have a breakdown.)
