

Oct.12, 1975

Description:

On Oct. 12, 1975, at 9:45 PM, as I was out alone, peacefully looking at the stars from the cycle path, with a half moon and some light beneath me from street-lamps, able to see only a very small long slice of the sky due to nearby houses, 2 pairs of lights (A&B, C&D) suddenly appeared from behind me in flight in the low sky.

Each object had a small black circular center, with a large surrounding roughly circular, slightly yellowish/fuzzy-white area of revolving, rolling energy. This energy layer was a little larger proportionately, than that of the red area surrounding its tiny center in the underside of the UFO seen 2 days earlier.

Each object had another outer area with changing edges of soft white light around it, and within each coordinated pair of objects, this light held a broad touching contact between them: so they flew as a totally parallel, energetically connected pair.

The flight paths of each pair were in the same general direction forward, but not parallel to the other pair. There seemed to be a stream of white current both immediately behind and in front of each set of lights, as if the pair was floating on mutually interlocked streams.

In flight, A&B and C&D flew at a varying nearby distance to each other, irregularly approaching the other pair and moving slightly away again, and continued doing this until they disappeared into foggy clouds: the pairs flew closely but independently.

Total time about 1 and 1/4 seconds!

Subjective after-thoughts:

Each UFO event seems to show a wealth of new information and corroborates earlier sightings - they don't contradict each other, and their details seem to be inter-related.

This showed a close-up of the loosely-contoured egg of white energy surrounding each UFO's dark center, plus each pair's outer and mutually hooked-up parallel energy fields.